

Synthetic Pipeline Example: Pre-Salt Structural Concepts

This document was created solely for Pipeline_2 smoke testing. It is not a scientific source and must not be cited.

A normal fault is a geological structure produced by extension. A graben is a structural depression bounded by faults. A reservoir interval is a portion of the subsurface selected for geological description.